Grand Cayman

The Cayman Islands, located 180 miles Northwest of Jamaica and 460 miles South of Miami, are comprised of Grand Cayman, Cayman Brac and Little Cayman. These three little islands have a total land mass of 100 square miles, with Grand Cayman being the largest and most populated. Grand Cayman and Little Cayman are relatively flat with sweeping beaches and ironshore coastlines. Cayman Brac boasts a towering limestone bluff which rises to a height of 140 feet (43m). The islands are tempered by trade winds, keeping a comfortable temperature in the 80° F range. Water temperatures are close to 80°F year-round, cooling slightly in the winter months. Surrounding waters are unbelievably clear with visibility of at least 100 feet on most days. Columbus discovered the island in 1503. In 1670, Cayman was ceded to the British Crown in the Treaty of Madrid with settlement following many years later in the 1730s. They were a dependency of Jamaica until 1959 when it was given status as unit territory with the Federation of the West Indies. All links were severed, the Federation was dissolved, and Jamaica declared independence in 1962. Today Cayman is one of the last (and most loyal) British Crown colonies with no sentiment for independence.

TENDER TICKET DISTRIBUTION

We use a tender service to go ashore today.

All guests who are NOT on a tour
MUST collect a tender ticket.

Please enter the Toulouse Lautrec Lounge on Deck 3 where a cruise staff member will give you a ticket. Just relax in the lounge and when the tender is ready you will be escorted down to the gangway.

The lounge will open at 7:00am.

Only go to the lounge when you are actually ready to leave the ship.

Tender tickets will be used until approx. 9:00am.

TOURS MEETING ON THE PIER

If you are on a tour that departs from the pier after 9:30am but wish to leave the ship earlier, you must still collect a tender ticket from the Toulouse Lautrec

Please allow at least 45 minutes to go ashore.

An announcement will be made when the tender tickets will no longer be needed.

Tours can still be purchased from the Information Desk, Deck 3 Fwd
